

Ronald F. Lehman II

The Honorable Ronald F. Lehman II is the Director of the Center for Global Security Research (CGSR) at Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory (LLNL). Since 1996, Dr. Lehman has also been the Chairman of the Governing Board of the International Science and Technology Center (ISTC), a 39-nation inter-governmental organization headquartered in Moscow. Ron is the Vice Chair of the U.S. Department of Defense Threat Reduction Advisory Committee (TRAC) and recently co-chaired the National Academy of Sciences' study on the future of Cooperative Threat Reduction (CTR). Ron was Director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency from 1989 to 1993 when START I, START II, the Chemical Weapons Convention, and other historic agreements were concluded. Previously, Ron served in the Defense Department as Assistant Secretary for International Security Policy, in the State Department as Ambassador and U.S. Chief Negotiator on Strategic Offensive Arms (START I), and in the White House as Deputy Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. He has also served on the National Security Council staff as a Senior Director, in the Pentagon as Deputy Assistant Secretary, on the Senior Professional Staff of the U.S. Senate Armed Services Committee, and in Vietnam commissioned in the United States Army. In past years, he served on the Presidential Advisory Board on Proliferation Policy, on the State Department's International Security Advisory Board, as chair of the NATO High Level Group, on the governing board of the US Institute of Peace, and as a US representative to a number of United Nations disarmament and review conferences.
